Description

I'm a 19-year-old male who sustained a brain injury as a baby, I'm a wheelchair user and have complex behavioural, cognitive, and physical needs. I'm described by the people who know me best as 'a real character', funny, cheeky and determined. I'm a sociable, young man with a great sense of humour, but can get very anxious when trying new things or going to new places, it can take me a little while to get used to new people. When I get anxious, I don't always react in the right way, but when I'm put at ease, I can be very good company.

I need help with personal care and transfers, but my physiotherapist and current Support Workers are helping me to get stronger and to learn new skills. I would like support to access community facilities or to experience social and leisure activities, engage in therapy, and to further develop my life skills. Whilst I like trips out, I also enjoy my time at home doing things such as playing games like bingo, singing Karaoke and anything food related. Although I need a lot of support, I love being as independent as possible and I enjoy helping with household tasks and food preparation which I would like to develop further.
